Waterworks Visual Arts Center, 123 E. Liberty St., Salisbury. Through Nov. 10 - "The Vocabulary of Printmaking - Its Origins and Techniques." The group of exhibitions celebrate the rich tradition of fine art printmaking in its many forms including etchings, mezzotints, lithographs, and monoprints. There has been a great deal of confusion about the difference between an original print and a mechanically produced limited edition print. Printmaking is a multi-step fine art process that allows the artist to produce multiple copies of his original image. The original print is neither a copy nor a reproduction. The artist's hands steer its creation from start to finish. New works by five artists highlight an exceptional array of printmaking techniques in these exhibits including: "A Decade of Surfaces - Mixed Media Printmaking," featuring works by Robert Dunning, an art professor at the University of North Carolina - Asheville where he has taught since 1987; "Early Informants from a Childhood Landscape," features works by David Faber, an art professor and Master Printmaker at Wake Forest University. He teaches courses in intaglio, lithography, relief, and mixed methods; "Truth and Fantasy," featuring works by John D. Gall, who works from his studio in Jamestown, NC. He tells stories with his art and his subjects may be dreamed, imagined, or experienced; "Still Moments," featuring works by Julie Niskanen, who lives in Raleigh, NC, where she works as a professional artist and teaches printmaking workshops. She also teaches art courses at Wake Technical Community College; and "Spare Parts for Anxious Machinery," featuring works by Matthew Thomason, who work explores the experiences and perceptions of the space that surrounds us.
