Ward. A reception will be held on Oct. 13, from 6-8pm. As a practicing artist, Tom Stanley began explorations into visual art and music as early as 1960 with painted impressions of familiar musical forms. His work relies upon personal memory, an interest in contemporary folk art imagery, and hands-on experience as points of artistic departure. Throughout his distinguished career, internationally known silversmith and designer, Alf Ward has been commissioned to create presentation pieces for the Royal Family of England, Revlon of Paris, and the Royal Air Force, among others; and his work is a part of the permanent collection at the Victoria and Albert Museum in London. Work by Charles Williams

Winthrop University Galleries, Rutledge Building, Winthrop University, Rock Hill. Rutledge Gallery, Oct. 10 - Nov. 11 - "FLUX," featuring works by artist Mario Marzan. A reception will be held on Oct. 27, from 6:30-8pm, with a gallery talk at 7pm. Marzan uses exciting aesthetics to reflect on cultural duality in his personal history with Puerto Rico. Using "Caribbean color" theory, he comments on the problematic simplification of Caribbean culture as a playground for self-indulgence. His works are inspired by his childhood growing up in Puerto Rico where the shifting landscapes of the island are thrown into relief by tides of environmental degradation, political exploitation and economic upheaval. Elizabeth Dunlap Patrick Gallery, Through Nov. 11 - "Put Your Hands Where My Eyes Can See," featuring works by artist Charles Williams. Williams' exhibition is inspired by recent and historical incidents of unlawful police brutality in the United States, referencing human situations involving a need for trust and using the embodiment of a person's hands. Using images found online as a reference for creating the work in the exhibition, each of Williams' paintings focuses on highlighting hands using oil paint on paper and combining elements of abstraction. An artist talk and gallery walk-through will be held on Oct. 20 at 7pm. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-5pm.
