eration later in life, when sculpture became her new means to work with forms she had long painted. The tactile exhibit will include clay sculptures by Mary Carlisle, adjunct art professor, as well as students and alumnae.

The Georgia O'Keeffe Centennial is a year-long celebration of the artist's transformative time as a professor of art at Columbia College in 1915. The Centennial is presented by the Michael J. Mungo Foundation in memory of Jennifer Mungo and is in partnership with the Columbia Museum of Art and South Carolina Educational Television.

Recognized by US News and World Report as a best value institution and ranked among the best regional universities in the south, Columbia College is a dynamic learning and living community, where students, faculty and staff work together to build leaders our communities need most. Founded 161 years ago by the United Methodist Church as a women's, liberal arts college, Columbia College also offers evening, graduate and online programs serving both women and men. Columbia College is known for its emphasis on leadership and service and is home to a nationally renowned honors program led by the 2010-
