Diane Arbus, "Man and a Boy on a Bench in Central Park, NYC", 1962, gelatin silver print, 20 x 16 in. Weatherspoon Art Museum. Museum purchase by exchange, 2012. © Diane Arbus.

Weatherspoon Art Museum, University of North Carolina - Greensboro, Cone Building, Tate and Spring Garden Streets, Greensboro. Closed for Winter Break Through Jan. 2. Jan. 2 - Apr. 3 - "Markmaking: Selections from the Collection". The artworks in this exhibition show a plethora of approaches to markmaking, a term used to describe the different types of lines, scratches, smudges, patterns, dots, and textures that result from the way an artist applies a material, such as graphite or paint, to a surface. Because each mark possesses unique characteristics as well as contributes to the entire composition, it is an effective way to communicate. Marks can be descriptive, intuitive, or expressive. For example, some marks suggest vigorous energy or movement owing to the way they were applied, while others denote close attention to detail. Still, others feature novel techniques such as cutting and burning. On display are works by, among many others: Natalie Alper, Keith Carter, Sol LeWitt, Vik Muniz, Alyson Sholtz, and Robert Smithson. In all, these objects show how distinct strokes and application methods make each—and its artist—unique. Jan. 16 - June 19 - "Slow Looking/Deep Seeing". Research has shown that visitors to art venues spend only a few seconds looking at each work on display. The Weatherspoon's curatorial and education staff has organized an exhibition drawn from the museum's collection that will offer visitors a chance to slow down, make discoveries, and effectively connect with works of art. "Slow Looking/Deep Seeing" features a variety of works, both modern and contemporary, and is divided into three sections to facilitate immersive viewing: Reading the Narrative/Image, Noticing as Contemplative Practice, and Interpreting Movement. Figurative paintings with complex narratives will prompt viewers to take some time to decipher their meaning, while both representational and abstract artworks will allow for in-depth examination and peaceful contemplation. Slow Looking/Deep Seeing will be used by UCG courses this spring as part of the museum's Art of Seeing program. Now in its eleventh year, the program is designed to help students in health and human science fields hone their visual, diagnostic, interpretative, and communication skills. 2nd Floor: The Gregory D. Ivy and the Weatherspoon Guild Galleries, Through Feb. 14 - "Ties that Bind: Selections from the Collection". John Fawcett wrote a hymn on the theme in 1800. Bruce Springsteen took a different approach in an eponymous song popular in 1980. Whether entwined in fellowship with kindred spirits or stretched to the point of breaking, the ties that bind us to one another are often some of the most significant markers in our lives. Ties that Bind explores the various types of relationships that define, brighten, aspire, or perhaps even challenge us on a daily basis. Atrium and Lobbies - Featuring works of art complementing current gallery exhibitions which are rotated in the atrium and public areas throughout both floors of the gallery. Tom Otterness' site-specific work, "The Frieze" is permanently installed in the atrium. Sculpture Courtyard - Featuring selections of American sculpture from 1900 to the present from the Weatherspoon Collection and on loan works from contemporary artists. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue., Wed. & Fri., 10am-5pm, Thur., 10am to 9pm and Sat. & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 336/334-5770 or at (http://weatherspoon.uncg.edu/).

Hickory Museum of Art, Arts and Science Center, 243 Third Avenue NE, Hickory. Coe Gallery, Through Jan. 24 - "Suffrage". In conjunction with the History Museum of Catawba County, the Catawba County Library System, and the League of Women Voters, Hickory Museum of Art presents an exhibition celebrating the 100th anniversary of the ratification of the 19th Amendment. The exhibition highlights significant historical happenings that led to the passing of women's right to vote. Responding to a call for artists, 6 regional artists will be chosen to create artwork for the exhibition that responds to themes associated with the women's suffrage movement. Exhibition panels are being created by Catawba Valley Community College graphic design students.

Through Jan. 24 - The exhibition will also feature an installation called "The Feminist To Do List" by fiber artist Susan Lenz. The installation is a collection of forty-two altered, vintage quilt blocks presented in 10" diameter wooden embroidery hoops with call-to-action phrases (such as Run for Office, Speak Up, Protest Peacefully, Challenge the Status Quo, etc.) stitched on each one. Ongoing - "Discover Folk Art: Unique Visions by Southern Self-taught Artists". Explore recreations of artist work environments, including a school bus and a barn, family activity stations, more than 250 folk art objects, interactive touch screens and more. Free family guides available at check-in. Little Hands, Big Hands Gallery, Ongoing - "Little Hands, Big Hands". Younger visitors can be imaginative through creative exploration and play. Includes a puppet theater, mini art gallery, giant reading throne and more. Objects Gallery, Ongoing - "American Art Pottery": From the Museum's Moody Collection and "Born of Fire: Glass from the Museum's Luski Collection". Highlands

The Bascom, a center for the visual arts, 323 Franklin Rd., covered bridge entrance at the end of Main Street, Highlands. Joel Gallery, Ongoing - "Selections From Our Permanent Collection: Made Possible Through Bel Canto". In 1992, Richard Joel had a vision of melding his love of music and visual art to raise needed funds for the arts in Highlands and thus the Bel Canto Recital was born. The recital, held each September, has raised much-needed funds for The Bascom and other local arts organizations. We are proud to showcase some of the works purchased for our permanent collection thanks to Bel Canto! Education Gallery, Ongoing - The Bascom offers our students and instructors an opportunity to display their creative works from workshops and classes. The perspectives of these talented individuals reveal self-expression, cultural awareness and technical discipline. These ongoing displays expose the viewer to the analysis, invention, exploration and decision making processes used by students during the development of ideas into a work of art. Hours: Tue. - Sat., 10am-5pm. Contact: 828/526-4949 or at (www.thebascom.org).
