Spartanburg

Throughout downtown Spartanburg's Cultural District, Ongoing - The Creative Crosswalk Project is a public art initiative in which local artists and designers design and paint a series of crosswalk murals, transforming the crosswalks into works of art, on Main Street in Spartanburg, SC. The downtown cultural district area is often bustling with events and pedestrians, and the pedestrians rely heavily on a multitude of crosswalks to safely traverse the downtown Spartanburg area. The problem is that crosswalks are incredibly easy to overlook, they are rarely visually appealing, and they can even be quite dangerous. In an effort to remedy these issues, Chapman Cultural Center, the City of Spartanburg, and the Spartanburg Area Chamber of Commerce came together to organize the Creative Crosswalk Project. For more info visit (<https://www.chapmanculturalcenter.org>).

Works by Rosewary McLeod - Artist Collective

Artists Collective | Spartanburg (formerly West Main Artists Cooperative), 578 West Main St., Spartanburg. Gallery III, Through Dec. 3 - "The Bigger Picture," featuring new oil works reflect growth by Spartanburg artist Carol Story. Story was a grandmother already when she first picked up a paintbrush and became an artist. That was 15 years ago, and now she's ready for something bigger. Story will exhibit some of her new paintings - all 16-by-20-inch or larger oils. Story's fifth individual show for the Artists Collective includes more than a dozen new paintings - landscapes, florals and other subjects done in oil on gallery-wrapped canvas or framed linen panels. "It's all new and all painted with joy," she says. Dec. 6 - 31 - "Main Street to Saint-Tropez: The Art of Our Marriage," featuring works by Shannon Patrick and Peter Harding. A reception will be held on Dec. 15, until 9pm. Peter Harding will exhibit photography and pastel works and Shannon Patrick will show her works in oil. The joy of travel and observing their surroundings, both natural and manmade, have inspired an Upstate couple to share their art in their first joint exhibition. Gallery II, Dec. 6 - 31 - "Season Skeletons: The Pure Form," featuring works by Thomas Koenig. An Artist Talk, will be offered on Dec. 10, and a reception will be held on Dec. 15, until 9pm. Upstate photographer Thomas Koenig spent several winters looking for and studying trees in their natural state - without the adornment of leaves - and then went back to those trees to photograph them. Solomon Gallery, Through Dec. 24 - "2022 Holiday Artisan Market," features locally made art specially curated for gift-giving. An extensive selection of works will be offered for viewing and purchase ranging from ceramics to jewelry to printmaking, painting, fiber arts and sculpture. Each item included in the market is handcrafted by one of the more than 42 participating Collective members and will be available for purchase, with prices ranging from under $5 to more than $1,000. Ongoing - The Collective features a twenty thousand square foot facility offering affordable studio space, retail space, three galleries, a full ceramics studio, printery, and works by 50 local artists. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm; with extended hours on the 3rd Thur. of each month until 9pm for Spartanburg's Art Walk. Contact: 864/804-6501 or at (artistscollectivespartanburg.org/).

Beer and wine are available for those 21+. Ongoing - Works by Carl Tait and Harold Krisel are on display. Tait was a successful painter, textile designer, and interior designer. His ties to the Spartanburg community originate from his longtime employment at Milliken and Company. Tait was born in Old Town, Maine in 1917 and graduated from the New Hampshire Institute of Arts and Science. In the late 1940s, he moved to New York City where he designed an exclusive line of ladies' handkerchiefs for the department store B. Altman, now considered vintage, collectible items. He also became associated with the American Artist Group designing Christmas cards, an occupation which he kept up throughout the majority of his artistic career. Krisel was a distinguished artist, architect, and teacher as well as a loving father and husband. Though Krisel may not be a household name among Spartanburg residents, he has made a significant artistic contribution to the Spartanburg community. Born in Brooklyn, NY in 1920, Krisel's interest in art and design started at a young age. He attended the American Artist School in New York city as a teenager where he met renowned modern artists, including Piet Mondrian, who greatly influenced his abstract style. After studying architecture at the New Bauhaus in Chicago from 1946-1949, he received his graduate degree from Illinois Institute of Technology in 1952. The following year, he began working for architectural firm Skidmore, Owings and Merrill when Roger Milliken hired them to design Milliken's new research facility in Spartanburg. Upon realizing Krisel was also a sculptor, Milliken hired him to design the spray fountain outside of the facility which functions as a recycler of air conditioning water. He then went on to design the Trident Fountain located outside of the Papadopoulos building on Wofford College's campus. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 10am-7pm & Sat, 9am-3pm. Contact: 864-278-3228 or at (<https://www.mayfairartstudios.org/>).

USC Upstate Art Gallery, Chapman Cultural Center, 200 E. St. John Street, Spartanburg. Through Dec. 30 - "Mo Kessler: Exercises in Dependency." Kessler is a queer multimedia object maker, installation artist, and community organizer from Kentucky. Using the contradictions inherent in the concept of cheap, he makes work as a means to investigate how worth is generated under neo-liberal capitalism. The work relies on repetitive labor and materials that both spark recognition and are accessible. Fascinated by the defiance of "tacky" and the amount of sincerity it can hold, Kessler's work reflects the resilience embedded in the craft that is born of necessity. Under the politics of extraction and disposability, to mark value through attention, care and abundance is a small rebellion. He received their BFA from the Maryland Institute College of Art in 2007 and their MFA from Western Carolina University in 2021. Ongoing - Directed and curated by Dr. Lex Lancaster, the gallery will feature the work of diverse artists from the Southeast and beyond. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 10am-5pm, Thur. 10am-7pm & Sat., 11am-5pm. Contact: e-mail Dr. Lancaster at (lexl@uscupstate.edu).
