As co-curator Angela Dore notes, "Many of us identify with the culture in terms of the sense of place that we have from our family roots being here and being raised within the corridor, many of us remain actively engaged with the cultural practices, and others identify with the culture because of their lineage. For example, their parents or grandparents may have grown up within the corridor and passed the dialect, spiritual beliefs, and foodways down to them. We still cook like our grandmothers did. Jones-Carter Gallery, 105 Henry Street, next to The Bean Market, Lake City. Through Mar. 11 - "Mind...Body," featuring works by Jere Williams, from Richmond, VA. Williams says, "These artworks span roughly 20 years in my artmaking career, and for the most part, I consider my process to be an inquiry into the desire to know and thereby control. And who doesn't want to know the truth and to thereby gain control over the pleasure - pain cycle if such a thing is possible. The organization of these pieces, the flow through the gallery, charts a trajectory from highly cerebral to physical. To me, this inquiry stems from my initial training in analytic philosophy and progresses towards a more recent study of non-dualism." Hours: Tue.-Sat., 11am-5pm. Contact: call 843-374-1505 or at (<https://www.facebook.com/JonesCarterGallery/>).

TRAX Visual Art Center, 122 Sauls Street, Lake City. Through Mar. 11 - "Time Travel," featuring works by Ann Harwell, from Wendell, NC. Harwell says, "My work is to communicate ideas, express feelings and tell stories. I especially want to unite and enhance diverse fabric designs and colors with intricate, precision piecing and exorbitant quilting and all the while weave a subtle sermon on the things that delight and confound me. I start with an original rough drawing, draft a straight-line design, and then transfer the design to pattern material. Each piece of cotton fabric (hand-dyed, batik, commercial cottons) is selected, individually precision cut, and sewn together with my 1945 Singer Featherweight machine." Hours: Tue.-Sat., 11am-5pm.
